WEDDING COLLECTION - 2026

Congratulations!

This time, he or she has (finally!) proposed to you. Before we even talk about wedding photography, organization, style or pricing, let me express my warmest congratulations. You are about to live intense and hectic months which will culminate in an unforgettable day, both for you and your loved ones who wish to see you happy.

To witness the candid and sincere joy of the newlyweds and their loved ones is, by far, my primary motivation in being a wedding photographer.

Your story is unique. Thousands of couples get married every day and I love the idea of knowing your story in particular.

Now, the time has come to transition gently from the dream to reality by planning each step of your wedding. As you know, selecting your photographer is one of the most significant decisions. They are the ones who will create these everlasting memories for you and generations to come.

A little about me...

Before even discussing photography itself, I must say that I particularly love weddings. These are memorable days with a sense of magic in the air. Something unique is forged during a wedding day, a feeling of absolute fulfillment with one's partner, as well as with all our loved ones who have come to celebrate with us. We wish this day would never end! I cover between 15 and 20 weddings each year, but believe me, I never get tired of these celebrations.

And then, of course, there's photography. I have always enjoyed having a camera in my hand. I clearly picture myself as a child, always looking through the viewfinder of a camera. Every time, I would tell myself that I was observing things that others couldn't see! And deep down, it was true. The camera allows you to observe a scene, a subject, or a landscape in a different way. You have to quickly make choices about what you want to observe and capture. Over time, I have come to appreciate holding a camera more and more, understanding its mechanism and composition. Today, I am fortunate to be able to make a profession out of it, and I realize how lucky I am.

The sweetest happiness is the one we share.

Jacques Delille

Your wedding is more than just a date on the calendar. It's also several months of preparations, validating every detail. To accompany you on this journey, you will receive my "Wedding Guide." Whether you're seeking inspiration or advice, it will help you plan and organize your preparations for a more serene wedding day.

You will also find a questionnaire to get to know you better. This way, I can adapt to your personality and create a unique testimony that reflects you.

Lastly, I will share with you a list of preferred vendors I have been working with for XX years. Hair dressers, makeup artists, florists... professionals who share the same values and deserve your attention.

Andy + Miranda

I'm not sure if I have the right words to express my gratitude to Franz. The photos are stunning, they capture our day so beautifully, the emotions we felt... We couldn't have had a better photographer. We almost want to get married again to relive the intense experience of discovering our photos. Shall we do it again in 10 years? Franz has now become a friend, and we will undoubtedly call on him for all our future family photos.

FAQ's

WHY DOES IT TAKE A MONTH FOR IMAGE DELIVERY?

I pay special attention to the selection and editing of your most beautiful photos. It's a job that, to be done well, needs time. I can understand the eagerness to see the results. But what are a few weeks of waiting when it comes to taking care of images that will accompany you throughout your life.

HOW DOES THE "AFTER DAY" SESSION WORK?

The "Day After" session takes place after your wedding. Its purpose is to choose a special location to create beautiful photos of you in your wedding attire. Your wedding day is often a stressful moment in which you feel swept up in a whirlwind of emotions. This more relaxed session allows you to take your time for just the two of you and fully enjoy an additional moment of intimacy as "newlyweds."

AND IF IT RAINS ON THE BIG DAY, WILL IT STILL BE POSSIBLE TO HAVE BEAUTIFUL PHOTOS?

The weather is a genuine source of concern for couples. That being said, rest assured, no matter the weather: it's primarily the love and emotions you will experience that will enable us to capture the most beautiful shots.

WHEN SHOULD THE COUPLE PHOTOS BE TAKEN? BEFORE OR AFTER THE CEREMONY?

I explain all of this in detail in my "Wedding Guide," but whenever possible, the ideal time for couple photos is an hour before sunset. The light is very soft and enhances this moment beautifully.
